Stages description

Day 1: Individual arrival in Orléans

Orléans is located at the northernmost point of the course of the Loire River and is one of the oldest cities in France. After arriving for your bike tour to the Atlantic Ocean, there will certainly be time to stroll through the city center. Orléans is best known for Joan of Arc, the legendary Maid of Orléans, who is revered as a national heroine in France to this day.

Day 2: Orléans – Beaugency / St. Dyé, approx. 25 / 45 km

This stage takes you along the Loire to the first cultural highlight, the cathedral of Cléry St André. The route continues to the castle of Meung-sur-Loire and Château Dunois. You cycle through a landscape characterised by water and rural culture. At the end of the day, it is worth taking a stroll through the medieval centre of Beaugency and the old river port of St. Dyé.

Day 3: Beaugency – Blois, approx. 40 / 25 km

Today you will first cycle to Chambord Castle, which is located away from the Loire. The 380 chimneys and the huge park surrounding the estate are particularly impressive. The route continues through the forests of Boulogne to Cheverny. The castle of Cheverny is located just outside near a lake. The last stretch leads via Celettes through the forest of Roussy to the town of Blois, today's stage destination.

Day 4: Blois – Amboise, approx. 45 km

You cycle along the Loire through the Valley of the Kings. In the relatively small town of Amboise, you can visit the royal castle, which offers one of the most remarkable views of the Loire Valley. About 500 metres away is the cute Clos Lucé castle made of pink sandstone. Leonardo da Vinci is buried here, having spent several happy years at the castle before his death. In the evening, take a stroll through the sometimes steep and very narrow streets of Amboise's old town centre.

Day 5: Amboise – Tours, approx. 50 / 30 km

Today, the route leads through the forest of Amboise away from the Loire to the castle of the three ladies-in-waiting in Chenonceau on the River Cher. The castle is particularly famous for its gardens. You then follow the course of the river to Tours, today's destination. If you wish, you can take a break en route at Nitray Castle with its famous wine cellars.

Day 6: Tours – Chinon, approx. 55 km

You will experience two more magnificent castles on today's stage of your bike tour from Orléans to the Atlantic Ocean. You follow the Cher River and soon reach Villandry Castle. Stroll through the six magnificently landscaped gardens – one more beautiful than the other. Continuing along the banks of the Loire River, you will reach Langeais and thus the second castle of today. From the fortified tower you will enjoy the magnificent view over the river and the surrounding countryside. After this relaxing break, you will roll leisurely to Chinon.

Day 7: Chinon – Saumur, approx. 35 km

Today's bike tour from Orléans to the Atlantic Ocean takes you first to Montsoreau. It is one of the most beautiful villages in France, not only because of its magnificent castle built of tufa stone and the flower-filled village alleys. You pass Souzay-Champigny, famous for its cave dwellings, and soon reach Saumur – the pearl of Anjou. From the town's chateau you have a beautiful view of the medieval old town and the Loire Valley. In the evening, treat yourself to a glass of the region's excellent red wines!

Day 8: Individual departure

After breakfast you start your individual return journey home or extend your stay.
